Composer's note

Angele Dei, also known as the Prayer to One's Guardian Angel, had initially been attributed to St. Anselm (ca. 1003-1109) for it appears in the medieval collections of his works. However, it has been determined that it was merely added to his works sometime after his death. Further research shows that this prayer is an 11th/12th century interpolation of a prayer written by Reginald of Canterbury (d. ca. after 1109) from his Life of St. Malchus (d. ca. 390) who was a famous hermit and a friend of St. Jerome (ca. 341-420). The popular English translation is from the latter half of the 19th century and appears in the Baltimore Manual of Prayers.

Despite its relative popularity especially to children, only very few composers have set the prayer to their own music. While I was stuck at De La Salle-College of Saint Benilde on a stormy school day in July 2002, I grabbed the opportunity to sketch out the work and completed it on 29 February 2004. I chose to just melodically represent the simplicity of one's prayer to his Guardian Angel but developed it to illustrate an angel spreading its wings then closes them as a protective embrace for its charge against the assault of demons. The 2nd of October is the memorial to them and the prayer is said to carry a partial indulgence.

When Mark Carpio became the new choirmaster of the famed UP Madrigal Singers and asked me if I had any new choral works, I immediately gave him this which they eventually premiered in September 2005 and later included it in their repertoire when they competed and won at the Florilège Vocal de Tours in 2006. This is indeed memorable because they introduced me as a composer to the choral world and, as a gesture of thanks, Angele Dei is hereby dedicated to them.

This is one of the three pieces formed as choral meditations which has been premiered as a set on 28 April 2012 by the Collegium Singers Manila under the baton of Angelito 'Jun' Ayran, Jr..
